

Contributors

SHARON ACHINSTEIN is Lecturer in English at Oxford University. She is the author of Literature and Dissent in Milton's England and Milton and the Revolutionary Reader, which won the Hanford Award from the Milton Society of America. The author of many articles on John Bunyan, she is currently working on a study of early modern feminism.

VERA J. CAMDEN is Professor of English at Kent State University, Assistant Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at Case Western Reserve University, and Training and Supervising Analyst at the Cleveland Psychoanalytic Center. The author of articles on Bunyan and other seventeenth-century writers, she has edited The Narrative of the Persecutions of Agnes Beaumont. She is co-editor of American Imago. She is past President of the International John Bunyan Society.

MICHAEL DAVIES is Lecturer in English at the University of Liverpool. He is the author of Graceful Reading: Theology and Narrative in the Works of John Bunyan and has published widely on a range of writers from Shakespeare to John Calvin.

MARGARET J. M. EZELL is the John Paul Abbott Distinguished Professor of Liberal Arts at Texas A&M University. She is the author of The Patriarch's Wife: Literary Evidence and the History of the Family, Writing Women's Literary History, and Social Authorship and the Advent of Print. In 2004, she held a Guggenheim Fellowship. She is presently at work on a volume in the new Oxford English Literary History series covering 1645–1714.

THOMAS LUXON is Cheheyl Professor of English at Dartmouth College and Director of the Dartmouth Center for the Advancement of Learning. He is the author of Literal Figures: Puritan Allegory and the Reformation Crisis in Representation and Single Imperfection: Milton, Marriage and Friendship. He is the current President of the International John Bunyan Society.

DAVID NORBROOK is Merton Professor at Oxford University. He is the author of Poetry and Politics in the English Renaissance and Writing the English Republic: Poetry, Rhetoric, and Politics, 1627–1660. He is the editor of Lucy Hutchinson's Order and Disorder as well as The Penguin Book of Renaissance Verse, 1509–1659.

ROGER POOLEY teaches English in the School of Humanities at Keele University. He is the author of English Prose of the Seventeenth Century and a number of articles on Bunyan and other seventeenth-century topics. His edition of The Pilgrim's Progress is forthcoming from Penguin Classics.

PETER L. RUDNYTSKY is Professor of English at the University of Florida and editor of American Imago. He is the author of Freud and Oedipus; The Psychoanalytic Vocation: Rank, Winnicott, and the Legacy of Freud; Psychoanalytic Conversations: Interviews with Clinicians, Commentators, and Critics; and Reading Psychoanalysis: Freud, Rank, Ferenczi, and Groddeck, which received the Gradiva Award from the National Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis. He was the Fulbright/Sigmund Freud Society Visiting Scholar of Psychoanalysis in Vienna. He is an Honorary Member of the American Psychoanalytic Association.