

FIGURES

2.1	Changes in the Global Institutionalization of Nature Protection over the Twentieth Century	46
3.1	Enforcement Districts and Presence of Organizations in the Lower Fraser Basin	62
3.2	Selected Environmental Charges in British Columbia, 1985–1996	63
6.1	Regulatory versus Strategic Perspectives on the Effect of Coercive Pressures on Firm Performance	163
9.1	Country Adoption of National EIA Legislation	223
10.1	The Organizational Field as a Nexus of Issue-Based Negotiation	238
10.2	Adoption of a New Regulatory Form in Species Protection: HCP Approvals	242
11.1	Overall Orientation Levels	271
11.2	Defensive Orientation	272
11.3	Integrative Orientation	272
11.4	Anticipative Orientation	273
11.5	Institutional versus Technical Orientation	274
11.6	Sentence Types	274
11.7	Institutional Focus in Action Statements by Orientation	275
11.8	Technical Focus in Action Statements by Orientation	276
12.1	Stages of Evolution of PFC Emissions Reduction Efforts	303
14.1	Multidimensional Scaling Plot of U.S. Congressional Hearings on Solid Waste, 1969–1970	339

15.1	Institutions and Voluntary Agreements	352
16.1	Organizing Knowledge-Intensive Collective Activities	377
16.2	Organizing Knowledge-Intensive Environmental Regulation	380
18.1	ISO 9000 International Quality Management Certificates by World Region	417
18.2	ISO 14000 International Environmental Management Certificates by World Region	417
19.1	Pathways to Environmental Leadership	443