

Contents

Translator's Note	ix
Introduction	1
1 The Mosaic Distinction and the Problem of Intolerance	8
How Many Religions Stand Behind the Old Testament?	8
What Is Truth?	12
Intolerance, Violence, and Exclusion	15
Constructions of the Other: Religious Satire	23
2 Monotheism—A Counterreligion to What?	31
Monotheism Versus Polytheism	31
Akhenaten and Moses: Egyptian and Biblical
Monotheism	35
Monotheism as Anti-Cosmotheism	39
Monotheism as Political Theology: Ethics, Justice, Freedom	43
Law and Morality in the "Pagan" World and the Theologization of Justice in Monotheism	48
3 The Clash of Memories: Between Idolatry and Iconoclasm	57
The Legend of the Lepers and the Amarna
Trauma in Egypt	57
Iconoclasm and Iconolatry	67
Prisca theologia and the Abolition of the Mosaic Distinction	76
The Tightening of the Mosaic Distinction and the Rise of Paganology	80
4 Sigmund Freud and Progress in Intellectuality	85
The Jewish and Greek Options	87

	The Trauma of Monotheism: Analytic Hermeneutics and Mnemohistory	89
	The Ban on Graven Images as Progress in Intellectuality	97
5	The Psychohistorical Consequences of Monotheism	104
	The “Scriptural Turn”: From Cult to Book	104
	Into the Crypt	109
	The Invention of the Inner Self	112
	Counterreligion and the Concept of Sin	113
	Conclusion	117
	Notes	121