

Contents

Foreword	xiii
Bibliographic Note	xvii
Translator's Note	xix
§1. The aporia of Saint Augustine	1
1 Confessio or Reduction	11
§2. What praise means, 11—§3. Citation and responsal, 21—§4. Confessio divided and doubled, 27—§5. Coherence by confessio , 32—§6. Unity by confessio , 36—§7. The model and alterity, 40—§8. The variations of the model, 50
2 The Ego or the Gifted	56
§9. The appearance of a cogito , 56—§10. The anonymity of the ego, 62—§11. The dimensions of memoria , 69—§12. The immemorial, 74—§13. What desire thinks, 80—§14. Vita beata as principle, 87—§15. The gifted, more than the ego, 93
3 Truth, or the Saturated Phenomenon	101
§16. The demand of the vita beata , 101—§17. Dual-action truth, 108—§18. Hatred of truth, 113—§19. Evidential excess, 115—§20. Love of truth, 120—§21. Third-order truth, 128—§22. The truth loved: pulchritudo , 138
4 Weakness of Will, or Power of Love	145
§23. Temptation and the fact of self, 145—§24. Desire or care, 152—§25. The will or my ownmost, 159—§26. To will, not to will, 164—§27. Weakness of will, 170—§28. Vehementer velle , 175—§29. The grace to will, 182

5	Time, or the Advent	191
	§30. Time and the origin, 191—§31. Differance , 197— §32. The aporia of the present, 202—§33. The measure of bodily movement, 208—§34. Distentio animi , 212— §35. The event of creation, 217—§36. Conversion of the distentio , 223
6	The Creation of the Self	230
	§37. The opening of the world, 230—§38. The aporia of the place, 237—§39. The site of confessio , 243—§40. Resem- blance without definition, 252—§41. Pondus meum , 260— §42. The univocity of love, 270—§43. In the self's place, 282
7	Addition: Idipsum , or the Name of God	289
	§44. The question of the names of God, 289—§45. The common response, 292—§46. Translating idipsum by attraction, 295—§47. The silence of idipsum , 299— §48. Sum qui sum , or immutability, 302—
	Conclusion	307
	§49. Oneself as inclusion, 307
	Notes	313
	English Translations Cited	397
	Index locorum	403
	Index nominum	411