

ILLUSTRATIONS

FIGURES

1.1	Economic growth in Syria, 1991–2005	24
1.2	GDP per capita growth, 1991–2005	25
1.3	Oil as a percentage of exports, GDP, and revenue	30
1.4	Private foreign direct investment as a percentage of GDP	31
1.5	Explanatory map	34
3.1	Private sector firms	81
4.1	Syria: current account balance, 1991–2005	89
4.2	Real GDP growth, 1980–2005	90
4.3	Typical pyramidal structure of networks: power, bureaucracy, and capital	102
4.4	Sectoral and institutional sources of economic networks' members	103
5.1	Gross domestic investment expenditure	123
5.2	Delays in obtaining business services	143
5.3	Percentage use of informal means for business services in Syria	143
6.1	Distribution of specialized bank credit by economic activity	161

TABLES

1.1	Syrian oil production, 1970–2005	29
3.1	Attributes of the Syrian business community, 1986–2005	66
3.2	Syrian gross fixed capital formation	72

x ILLUSTRATIONS

4.1	Patterns of state-business relations: networks, rent, and economic change	92
5.1	Summary of Investment Law No. 10 of 1991	131
5.2	Breakdown of Syrian formal and informal sectors, by economic sector, 2003 (percentage)	148
5.3	Breakdown of Syrian formal and informal sectors, by age, 2003 (percentage)	148
5.4	Breakdown of Syrian formal and informal sectors, by education, 2003 (percentage)	149
5.5	Syria's GDP growth	150
6.1	Increases in GDP relative to increases in national income per capita	156
6.2	Indirect taxes and reduction in government subsidies	157