

Contents

---

Preface: Trafalgar Square, 19/20 July 1969 xi

Introduction 1

The Issues, 1 Cross-Traffic, 8

PART I. MAYFAIR MODERN 19

1. London, USA? 27

Postwar Construction, the Promise of Modernism, and the Urban Aesthetic, 29 The Hilton Hotel and the Threat of Manhattanization, 31 London and Sixties Modernism after the Hilton 42

2. The Embassy and the Crowd 48

Saarinen's Eagle, 49 Protest, 52 17 March 1968, 57

3. US/Us: The Left's Special Relationship 64

The British Left and America in the Sixties, 66
The Vietnam War and Transatlantic Alternative Theater, 72
"The Tidal Wave of Student Revolution" 80

PART II. THE COUNTERCULTURE 95

4. From the Albert Hall to a British Counterculture 99

Wholly Communion at the Royal Albert Hall, 101
Circularity, 104 The Counterculture and the Media, 114

5. California Dreamin' 118

Hippies, 122 The Underground Press, 129

6. Venues of Liberation	138
Pop and the Media, 139	Rock Concerts and Festivals, 143
Liberation at the Roundhouse, 148
PART III. FREEDOM 157
7. Anglo-American Black Liberation	161
The American Civil Rights Movement in London, 168
Transatlantic Black Power, 174	British Black Power, American Style, 182
8. Riding the Second Wave: The American Face of Women's Liberation in Britain	194
From Black Power to Women's Lib, 197	American Feminism Comes to London, 200
British Women's Lib, 206	A Theory of Their Own?, 211
9. Coming Out and Coming Together: Anglo-American Gay Liberation	216
Gay Liberation and the Counterculture, 217
Anglo-American Contexts, 222	Transatlantic Gay Liberation, 229
Post-Liberation Gay Scenes, 239
PART IV. POSTMODERN, ANTIMODERN 247
10. Dystopias	249
Imaginary Dystopias, 251	Television and the American Assault on (British) Childhood, 255
Ecological Dystopias, 259
11. British "Heritage" and the Transatlantic Marketplace	263
Going for a Song in Portobello Road, 265	Upstairs with Alistair Cooke, 271
Heritage Tennis, 281
12. Mecklenburgh Square	287
History, 288	Americans, 290
Liberation?, 293	British Heritage and American Fantasy, 298
Postscript: To the Bicentennial/Jubilee	303
Concluding Remarks	307
Notes	313
Index	355