

Illustrations

1.1	Advertisement for ad space in the Nazi press	41
2.1	The boycott of Jewish businesses, April 1, 1933	49
2.2	Heinrich Hunke, 1935	55
2.3	Proper and improper femininity in advertisements	76–77
2.4	Advertisement with women smoking	78
2.5	Sex still sells in the illustrated press	79
2.6	New state advertising school on KuDamm in Berlin	81
2.7	Cooperative advertisement for barbers	82
3.1	Boys watching Henkel film outdoors	95
3.2	Dreaming of Henkel products	96
3.3	Publicity for Henkel's whaling expedition	107
3.4	BMW Blätter image	117
3.5	Weimar-era Mercedes-Benz advertisement	119
3.6–7	Mercedes-Benz advertisements, mid-1930s	121–22
3.8	Osram image of city and country unified	126
3.9–10	Osram mimics Nazi propaganda	127–28
3.11	Osram campaign for “better light”	131
4.1–2	Siemens brochure images	137–38
4.3	Camelia in the illustrated press	146
4.4	Fear of infection, Bayer advertisement	148
4.5–6	Competing toothpaste ads from Chlorodont and Nivea	149–50
4.7	Entrepreneur as advertiser	156
4.8	Controversial Fewa advertisement	158
4.9	Caricature of untrustworthy salesmanship	162
4.10	Traveling salesman for Henkel walking above flooded streets	163

5.1	Adman standing strong in war	190
5.2–4	Advertisements to help Germans cope with war	192–95
5.5	Agfa and the separation of war	196
5.6	Humor in war	198
5.7–8	Nivea ads—normal life in abnormal times	199
5.9–10	Dr. Oetker recipes	203
5.11	Henkel on Hygiene	206
5.12	1938 RVA washing primer which encourages the use of Persil	210
5.13	“Johanna is going—but she’ll be back”	211
5.14	Daimler-Benz stands behind the war	216
5.15	Henkel products on sale in the Sudetengau	218
5.16	Signal cover	220
5.17	Zeiss binoculars advertisement in Dutch	221
5.18	Reich lottery tickets	222
6.1	BMW merchandise	228
6.2	BMW wartime advertisements in multiple languages	231
6.3	BMW Blätter cover image	232
6.4	BMW French poster	235
6.5	Nivea canisters	238
6.6	Hansaplast on the home front	239
6.7	Bahlsen’s abstract aesthetic	240
6.8–9	Bahlsen packaging and classified, 1944	242–43
6.10–12	The hope for resurrection: Maggi, Bayer, and a soldier’s obituary	244–45
6.13	Nivea postwar advertisement	257
6.14	Mercedes-Benz and empire	258