

Figures, Maps, and Tables

Figures

1.1. A document originating in Quetzaltenango in 1797	27
1.2. A 1797 document travels to the capital and elsewhere	28
1.3. Mapa of places resettled after the 1773 earthquake	45
1.4. 1796 Itinerary of places near Quetzaltenango	49
1.5. 1780 Itinerary of destinations between Guatemala and Omoa	50
2.1. The Parish of Apaneca	69
2.2. The Parish of Garcia	69
2.3. The Parish of Mexicanos	72
2.4. The Parish of Texistepeque	72
3.1. Portion of the 1793 “Estado o Razón” showing Guatemalan distances	90
3.2. Portion of 1793 chart showing the route to Petén	99
4.1. Mariano Córdova letter from 1840	129
4.2. Rivera Maestre’s map of Guatemala	132
4.3. Rivera Maestre’s map of Chiquimula	133
4.4. José Arjona’s key to the code	134
5.1. A document from Chiquimula, eaten by vermin	158
6.1. Ignacio Guerra y Marchán’s archive inventory	164
6.2. Archive organization recommended by Miguel Talavera, page 1	174
6.3. Talavera’s final table of contents for the archive	177
6.4. Portion of the catalog by Eugenio Amaya of archival collections showing revisions	182

Maps

1.1. The Guatemalan audiencia in the eighteenth century	6
1.2. The late sixteenth-century Guatemalan audiencia depicted as a route	13
1.3. The late eighteenth-century Guatemalan audiencia depicted as a route	13
1.1. The spatial and temporal sequences suggested by the document's itinerary	29
3.1. Mail destinations to the southeast of Guatemala City in the 1750s	83
3.2. Representation of 1793 table, showing destinations of the Guatemalan mail	97
3.3. The 1793 route from Guatemala to Petén	99

Tables

1.1. 1747 Itinerary of towns near Quetzaltenango	47
1.2. Portion of the 1812 questionnaire	52
2.1. Table of distances by Cortés y Larraz	60
3.1. Pieces of outgoing mail in 1768	86
3.2. Distances and costs of mail routes from Guatemala	89
3.3. Portion of Chilean distances chart	91
4.1. Incoming and outgoing mail schedule for Guatemala City, 1840	126
4.2. Portion of José Arjona's distance measures	136
5.1. Late colonial itineraries for escribano documents	149