

THE AUTHORS

Edward E. Lawler III is Distinguished Professor of Business and Director of the Center for Effective Organizations in the Marshall School of Business at the University of Southern California. He has been honored as a top contributor to the fields of organizational development, human resources management, organizational behavior, and compensation. He is the author of over 400 articles and forty-six books. His most recent books include Achieving Strategic Excellence: An Assessment of Human Resource Organizations (2006), Built to Change (2006), The New American Workplace (2006), America at Work (2006), Talent: Making People Your Competitive Advantage (2008), Achieving Excellence in Human Resources Management: An Assessment of Human Resource Functions (2009), Useful Research: Advancing Theory and Practice (2011), and Management Reset: Organizing for Sustainable Effectiveness (2011). For more information, visit <http://www.edwardlawler.com> and <http://ceo.usc.edu>.

John W. Boudreau is Professor at the Marshall School of Business, University of Southern California, and Research Director at the Center for Effective Organizations. He is recognized for breakthrough research on human capital, talent, and sustainable competitive advantage. Boudreau advises numerous organizations, including early-stage companies, global corporations, government agencies, and non-profit organizations. His research has been featured in Harvard Business Review, the Wall Street Journal, Fortune, and Business Week. He is the author of over sixty books, chapters, and scholarly articles. His most recent books include the second edition of Investing in People, with Wayne Cascio, Retooling HR, and Transformative HR, with Ravin Jesuthasan. His columns and online articles appear in Talent Management magazine and CFO magazine, among others.