

Illustrations

Tables

1.1	Breakdown of Mexico's police forces (August 2009)	11
1.2	State-by-state comparison of crime	15
1.3	Factors affecting police professionalization	21
2.1	Cadet selection and education levels	47
2.2	Salaries, select benefits, and budgetary information	53
2.3	Police equipment and technology	56
3.1	2007 Municipal revenues with percent local sources versus federal and state (in thousands of U.S. dollars)	70
3.2	Average tenure of police chiefs	75
3.3	Lack of continuity across administrations in Mexicali	81
3.4	Continuity across administrations in Chihuahua City	86
4.1	Hypothetical decisions of subordinates to collude, confront, or tolerate organized crime	107
4.2	Timeline of select events in Tijuana's recent history	113
5.1	Citizens' actions to promote police effectiveness and facilitate reform	143
5.2	Bribe solicitations	148

5.3	Logit regression on corruption tolerance	152
5.4	Pooled model of respondents' satisfaction with the police using logistic regression	156
6.1	Formal rules governing the citizen public security committees in the four research sites as of 2009	166
7.1	2006 Fox administration FASP funding to support state and municipal public security efforts (in thousands of U.S. dollars)	190
7.2	Reported police budgets	194
7.3	Total 2008 SUBSEMUN equipment purchases nationwide	194
7.4	Ranks and new educational requirements under SIDEPOL	206
A-1	Generalized summary of design, implementation, and institutionalization problems	236
A-2	Variables in the LAPOP AmericasBarometer study	239
A-3	Variables in the ICESI study	241

Figures

4.1	Choice among confrontation, collusion, and tolerance	107
5.1	Mexican bribe solicitation in comparative perspective	146
5.2	Percent dissatisfied with the local police	155