

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Public Factions and Organized Interests	1
PART I: Who Is Represented?
1 Interest Groups That Speak for You and Me	21
2 One Person, One Lobbyist?	40
3 The Skew and Diversity of Organized Advocacy	76
PART II: Whose Voice Is Heard?
4 Institutionalized Pluralism	99
5 The Supply Side of Media Bias	125
6 The Usual Suspects in National Policymaking	144
Conclusion: Listening to Everyone	169
Appendix: Data Sources and Methods	187
Notes	205
References	213
Index	223