

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|-----------|
| List of Illustrations | ix |
| Abbreviations | xi |
| Acknowledgments | xiii |
| Introduction | xv |
| Chapter 1. Representing the Sonoran Landscape: Geographical Descriptions of Sonora in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries | 1 |
| A Note on the Identification of Indian Groups in Sonora | 3 |
| The Creation of Space | 6 |
| The Early Eighteenth Century | 9 |
| The Effects of Peace in the Mid-Eighteenth Century | 17 |
| Spatial Organization Projects in the Second Half of the Eighteenth Century | 28 |
| The Reinvention of Sonora | 47 |
| Chapter 2. Population Trends in the Mission Districts of Sonora | 49 |
| The Franciscan Missions in Sonora after 1767 | 51 |
| Pimería Alta | 52 |
| Pimería Baja | 59 |
| Opatería | 66 |
| Chapter 3. Changes in the Lifeways of Indian Towns | 77 |
| Loving God in Indian Country | 79 |
| The Ambiguity of Location: Living among Christians versus Becoming a Christian | 83 |
| Changes in Governing Structures of Indian Communities | 96 |
| Changes in the Everyday Life of Frontier Societies | 104 |
| Indian and Spanish Material Culture | 106 |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Frontier Horizontal Mobility | 114 |
| Interethnic Alliances in the Transformation of Sonora's Northern Frontier | 122 |
| Pluriethnic Bands in Sonora | 123 |
| The Protector of Indians | 139 |
| When Mission Residents Ceased To Be "Mission Indians" | 143 |
| Chapter 4. Sonora's Frontier Economy in the Late Colonial Period: | |
| A Captive Trade Network | 145 |
| The Economic Transition as a Conceptual Problem | 146 |
| The Sonoran Economy in the Mid-Eighteenth Century | 150 |
| Scarce Currency and the "Labyrinth of Prices" | 154 |
| The Fagoaga-Ximénez Company and Sonora's Captive Clientele . . . | 160 |
| Price Increases: Taxes, Freight Charges, and Forms of Fraud | 163 |
| Payment Systems for Goods and Wages | 176 |
| Commerce and Forms of Coercion | 185 |
| Chapter 5. Local Adaptations of the Franciscan Mission Regime . . . | 187 |
| The Mission Regime When the Franciscans Arrived in Sonora | 189 |
| New Mode of Governance: Custody of San Carlos de Sonora | 202 |
| Reaction against the Custody | 206 |
| Dissolution of the Custody | 212 |
| Changes in Mission Administration and Generational Crisis | 213 |
| The Communal Properties of Franciscan Missions in Sonora | 224 |
| Generational Crisis in the Pimería Alta Missionary District | 233 |
| Chapter 6. Leaving Sonora | 243 |
| The Expulsion of Spaniards and Its Aftermath in Pimería Alta | 247 |
| Secularism and Mission Secularization in Pimería Baja and Opatería | 256 |
| Conclusions | 267 |
| Glossary | 275 |
| Bibliography | 279 |
| Index | 303 |