

Contributors

Joseph Bauer is a professor of law at Notre Dame Law School.

Thomas K. Cheng is an associate professor at the University of Hong Kong Faculty of Law.

Philippe Gagnepain is an associate member of the Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne.

R. Richard Geddes is an associate professor in the Department of Policy Analysis and Management at Cornell University and director of the Cornell Program in Infrastructure Policy.

Leigh Hancker is a professor of European law at the University of Tilburg and is also counsel at Allen & Overy.

Deborah Healey is a senior lecturer and director of the Corporate and Commercial Stream at the University of New South Wales Faculty of Law.

Alberto Heimler is a professor of economics at the Scuola Superiore della pubblica amministrazione (the Italian School of Government).

Dae-Sik Hong is a professor of law at Sogang Law School.

Marc Ivaldi is a professor at the Toulouse School of Economics.

Chantal Latgé-Roucolle is an assistant professor of economics at the Ecole Nationale de l'Aviation Civile.

Ioannis Lianos is a reader (associate professor) in European and competition law and economics at University College London (UCL) and director of the Centre for Law, Economics and Society at UCL. He is also the head of the competition unit of the Laboratory on Law, Development and Innovation at the Higher School of Economics in Moscow.

Francesco Salerno is a senior attorney at Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton.

D. Daniel Sokol is an associate professor at the University of Florida Levin College of Law and a senior research fellow at the George Washington University Law School Competition Law Center.

Paul Stephan is the John C. Jeffries, Jr., distinguished professor of law at the University of Virginia School of Law.

Alexander “Sasha” Volokh is an assistant professor of Law at Emory University School of Law.

Wentong Zheng is an assistant professor at the University of Florida Levin College of Law.