

Contents

Introduction: Upside-Down Writing by Elisabeth Weber	1
Between Brackets I	5
Ja , or the faux-bond II	30
“The Almost Nothing of the Unpresentable”	78
Choreographies	89
Of a Certain Collège International de Philosophic Still to Come	109
Unsealing (“the old new language”)	115
“Dialanguages”	132
Voice II	156
Language (Le Monde on the Telephone)	171
Heidegger, the Philosophers’ Hell	181
followed by
Comment donner raison? “How to Concede, with Reasons?”	191

“There is No One Narcissism” (Autobiophotographics)	196
Is There a Philosophical Language?	216
The Rhetoric of Drugs	228
“Eating Well,” or the Calculation of the Subject	255
Che cos'è la poesia?	288
Istrice 2: Ick bünn all hier	300
Once Again from the Top: Of the Right to Philosophy	327
“A ‘Madness’ Must Watch Over Thinking”	339
Counter-Signatures	365
Passages—from Traumatism to Promise	372
TWO “AFFAIRS”
Honoris Causa : “This is also extremely funny”	399
The Work of Intellectuals and the Press (The Bad Example: How the New York Review of Books and Company Do Business)	422
Notes	457
Works Cited	489
Bibliography of Other Interviews with Jacques Derrida	495