

Acknowledgments

xi

INTRODUCTION: "THE COMMON LIFE"

I

- I Making Distinctions, Becoming Friends 5
- II Commensurability 11
- III "Regions of Sorrow" 16
- IV Overview of the Argument 20
- V What's Missing 25

I. THE SPACES OF ANXIETY: ARENDT'S
"ORIGINS OF TOTALITARIANISM"

29

- I Displacement—Declaration 29
- II Fringe—Sign Language 38
- III Expansion—Decree 44
- IV Depth—"Humbug" 50
- V Layers—Lying 56
- VI Movement—"Murderous Alphabet" 60
- VII Abyss—Anxiety 64

i:

- I Order and Odors: "Prologue" 68
 - II Propaganda and Paradise: Toward Auden's Poetology 78
 - III Omission and Opposition: "The Seven Ages" 85
 - IV Backward and Backside: "The Seven Stages" 102
 - V Assimilation and Simile: "The Masque" 114
 - VI Dumb for Dead 128
3. ARENDT'S MESSIANISM: "THE HUMAN CONDITION"
- I "Weak Messianic Force" 135
 - II Beginning and Ends 140
 - III Beginning Again 147
4. "REFLECTION ON THE RIGHT TO WILL": AUDEN'S "CANZONE" AND ARENDT'S NOTES ON WILLING
- I A Season of Melancholia 161
 - II A Priceless Gift 172
 - III Another Will 177

CONCLUSION: GOING ON

Notes

Bibliography

Index