

Contents

Preface by James G. Hershberg	xi
Acknowledgments	xvii
List of Abbreviations	xviii
Introduction: The Vietnam War in Its International Setting Priscilla Roberts	1

Part I The Beginning: From Colonial Rule to Escalation

1 Mao Zedong and the Indochina Wars Yang Kuisong	55
2 Forging a New Relationship: The Soviet Union and Vietnam, 1955 Mari Olsen	97

3	Opportunities Lost? Kennedy, China, and Vietnam Noam Kochavi	127
4	The French Recognition of China and Its Implications for the Vietnam War Fredrik Logevall	153
5	The Economic and Political Impact of the Vietnam War on China in 1964 Li Xiangqian	173
Part II The Widening War
6	Informing the Enemy: Sino-American “Signaling” and the Vietnam War, 1965 James G. Hershberg and Chen Jian	193
7	Beijing’s Aid to Hanoi and the United States–China Confrontations, 1964–1968 Shu Guang Zhang	259
8	The Sino-Soviet Dispute over Assistance for Vietnam’s Anti-American War, 1965–1972 Li Danhui	289
9	The Background to the Shift in Chinese Policy toward the United States in the Late 1960s Niu Jun	319
10	Sino-U.S. Reconciliation and China’s Vietnam Policy Shen Zhihua	349
11	China and the Cambodian Conflict, 1970–1975 Zhai Qiang	369
12	The Soviet-Chinese-Vietnamese Triangle in the 1970s: The View from Moscow Stephen J. Morris	405
13	Commentary: A Vietnamese Scholar’s Perspective on the Communist Big Powers and Vietnam Luu Doan Huynh	433

Part III Documents

14	Le Duan and the Break with China Stein Tønnesson and Christopher E. Goscha	453
15	Selected Conversations of Asian Communist Leaders on Indochina	487
	About the Contributors	535
	Index	541