

---

---

Maps, Figures, and Table

Maps

1. Southeast Asia and Southern China 15
2. Penang Island circa 2004 19

Figures

1. Spirit medium falls into a trance at a Nine Emperor Gods festival. 2
2. The god-in-his-medium cracks the snake-handled whip to exorcize ghosts from the premises. 5
3. The god-in-his-medium blows liquid onto heated oil. 6
4. The god-in-his-medium calculates a client's fate on his hands before offering a advice. 7
5. A Chinese spirit medium possessed by the Red Datuk, a Malay spirit, distributes gifts. 8
6. Spirit medium bows to show respect to Guanyin in procession to Kong Hok Palace. 18
7. Monks from Kek Lok Si preside over a modernist Buddhist Wesak Day ceremony. 22
8. Men celebrating a local god's birthday carry antique flags and a spike ball to the festival altar. 26

9. The Lord of the Dark Heavens mortifies his spirit medium self with spike balls at a festival.	27
10. Photo of the Shancai Boy's Buddhist medium in a temple publication, Penang, 1952.	32
11. Cover of Sian Chye souvenir volume, showing the god protecting Penang, 1957.	34
12. Tree roots crowd the entrances to small rooms at the shrine-grotto in Ayer Itam. Donor contributions are recorded on hanging strips of paper.	45
13. A gilded cart loaded with 'gold' ingots for sale at a ritual goods shop.	56
14. Statues of star gods representing prosperity, status, and long life.	58
15. Calligraphic representation of prosperity, status, and long life.	60
16. Two charms papers, with characters for 'long life' and 'prosperity,' repeated 100 times.	61
17. Throwing divining crescents, a temple member asks the god to select the keeper of the urn.	70
18. Priests perform a luck-changing ritual for temple committee members.	75
19. A spirit medium possessed by Nazha performs at the altar to the Lord of Heaven at a festival.	88
20. Spirit medium dots the image of a plaque to bring consciousness into the image before it is placed on a family altar.	98
21. A y-shaped rod used in planchette divination, on an altar between two cobra-handled whips. Temple seals and the five generals' heads are on the back of the altar.	103
22. A young spirit medium falls into trance, tended by a friend who waits to dress him in the god's stomacher and leggings.	128
23. A temple committee member, wearing pure white clothes, ties a headband on the god-in-his-medium at the altar of a Nine Emperor Gods temple.	129

24. The god-in-the-medium cuts his tongue with the spike ball, then writes the characters for prosperity and longevity with his blood on a large piece of tissue paper.	131
25. The god's dragon throne, draped with the spirit medium's leggings, at Singapore's Wudang Mountain Temple.	133
26. A medium, possessed by the spirit of a Chinese general, pays homage to Nazha, the Baby God, on the occasion of the god's birthday.	135
27. A teacher who is a trained martial artist but not a practicing spirit medium falls into a trance at a private home at the climax of the Nine Emperor Gods festival.	140
28. Nazha, possessing his spirit medium, takes pacifiers, a bottle of milk, and his weapon, the Heaven and Earth circle.	152
29. The Vagabond Buddha drinks a glass of Guinness Stout, wearing dirty robes and a hat on which the character for 'Buddha' ( Fo ) is written.	160
30. Members of a moral uplifting society offer books to the gods, later distributing them free at a Vagabond Buddha temple.	164
31. Datuk Keramat shrine in Singapore at a temple whose chief deity is the Chinese God of Prosperity.	176
32. Roadside Datuk Keramat shrine, a miniature house beside a tree and large rock with a small stone altar that displays an Islamic-style star and crescent moon.	180
33. Devotees burn camphor incense and sing a Malay invocation to invite the Red Datok to enter his spirit medium, who prays at the Lord of Heaven altar.	183
34. The Datuk Aunt blesses offerings of food and flowers on the occasion of the datuk's birthday.	186
35. The Red Datuk dances to Malay-style music in the temple courtyard at a festival.	188
36. Master Poh calculates the future on his hand. Because he was in mourning, he did not wear the spirit medium's stomacher and leggings in trance.	203
37. Baoyue Gong, The Jewel Moon Palace.	233

x / Maps, Figures, and Table

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 38. Master Lim's golden image on the altar at the Jewel Moon Palace, next to Guanyin's image.   | 235 |
| 39. A bamboo post representing the world axis connecting Heaven and Earth; Nazha's weapons by the shrine represent the union of Heaven and Earth. | 273 |
| 40. The second bamboo post uses four cups to represent the spirit armies of the four directions.  | 274 |
| 41. Dragon incense at the Kong Hock Palace, Chinese New Year.   | 295 |

Table

- |  |     |
|--|-----|
| 1. Slang terms antilanguage used by the Vagabond Buddha possessing his spirit medium | 290 |
|--|-----|