

Contents

Contributors	vii
Acknowledgments	xi

Introduction

1. Citizenship and National Identity in Twentieth-Century Germany 3
Geoff Eley and Jan Palmowski

Part One. Citizenship, State, and Nation

2. Citizenship in Germany and France at the Turn of the Twentieth Century: Some New Observations on an Old Comparison 27
Dieter Gosewinkel
3. The Citizen and the Republic in Germany, 1918–1935 40
Peter C. Caldwell
4. Culture, Belonging, and the Law: Naturalization in the Weimar Republic 57
Annemarie Sammartino
5. Citizenship, Identity, and Community in the German Democratic Republic 73
Jan Palmowski

Part Two. The Politics and Culture of Citizenship

6. The Citizen at Home: Wohnkultur Before World War I 95
Jennifer Jenkins

7. From the Chopped-off Hand to the Twisted Foot: Citizenship and Police Violence in Twentieth-Century Germany 108
Thomas Lindenberger
  8. Body Biological to Body Politic: Women's Demands for Reproductive Self-Determination in World War I and Early Weimar Germany 129
Cornelie Usborne
  9. Creating the Nazi Marketplace: Public Relations and Consumer Citizenship in the Third Reich 146
S. Jonathan Wiesen
  10. "Gesungen oder musiziert wird aber fast in jedem Haus": Representing and Constructing Citizenship Through Music in Twentieth-Century Germany 164
Toby Thacker
- Part Three. Citizenship in German History*
11. Conceptualizing Citizenship as a Biopolitical Category from the Eighteenth to the Twentieth Centuries 181
Pascal Grosse
  12. Citizenship in Twentieth-Century German History: Chances and Challenges of a Concept 198
Adelheid von Saldern
  13. Reflections on the Vocabulary of Citizenship in Twentieth-Century Germany 214
Kathleen Canning
  14. Some General Thoughts on Citizenship in Germany 233
Geoff Eley
- Notes 249
- Index 305