

Contents

	Introduction: Toward a Counterhistory	I
1.	Karl Marx: Around a Surprising Encounter with Heinrich Graetz	36
2.	Émile David Durkheim: The Memory of Masada	83
3.	Georg Simmel: The Stranger, from Berlin to Chicago	123
4.	Raymond Aron: An “Authentic French Jew” in Search of His Roots	169
5.	Hannah Arendt: Hannah and Rahel, “Fugitives from Palestine”	203
6.	Isaiah Berlin: The Awakening of a Wounded Nationalism	242
7.	Michael Walzer: The End of Whispering	288
8.	Yosef Hayim Yerushalmi: A Home for “Fallen Jews”	332
	Conclusion: Exile, the Enlightenment, Disassimilation	374
	Notes	385