

List of Figures and Tables

Figures

12.1 Sources on “rising Chinese nationalism” in U.S. newspapers, October 2000–July 2001	343
12.2 U.S. temperature in comparison across time and across countries	353
12.3 Distribution of levels of amity to the United States, 1998 and 2004	354
12.4 Average respondent perception of Chinese, Americans, and Japanese on combined peaceful (1) to warlike (7) and moral (1) to immoral (7) scales	358
12.5 Identity difference scores for Americans and Japanese, 2000–2004	359
12.6 The perceived main threat to Chinese national security, 2001–2003	362
12.7 Temperature category as portion of respondents	366

Tables

7.1 Chinese interpretations of the China threat theory	193
10.1 Globalization in China’s “State of the World Message” in the General Assembly’s Grand Debate, 1994–2002	282
10.2 China’s GDP growth rate in comparative perspective, 1990–2001	285
10.3 Multinational citizens’ perceptions of threat and influence in Asia (late 2000)	291
10.4 Voting in the Security Council, 1971–2004	294
12.1 Dependent and socioeconomic/demographic control variables, and the BAS survey years for which there are data	352

12.2 Summary of results concerning levels of amity toward the United States	356
12.3 Summary of findings about “identity difference”	361
12.4 Summary of findings about the “main threat to China’s national security”	365